WANTED BY TUSTIN POLICE DEPARTMENT: CITIZENS TO JOIN TWO COMMUNITY BOARDS

TUSTIN, Calif. – The Tustin Police Department is seeking volunteers to serve on two new community boards. The first board, the Community Policing Forum, will meet every other month to discuss crime trends, property crimes, and quality of life issues. Committee members will provide advisory input as to how crimes and issues affecting quality of life should be addressed in the community. If you are interested in joining the Community Policing Forum, contact Lieutenant Charlie Celano at 573-3392.

The second board, the Police Chief’s Advisory Board, will meet every other month to provide input on Tustin Police Department’s policies and procedures. Issues discussed will include important policy issues such as use of force, racial profiling, and police pursuits. If you are interested in joining the Police Chief’s Advisory Board, contact Lieutenant Steve Lewis at 573-3271.

“My objective in having citizen input is to maintain and enhance confidence and public trust in our Department,” said Chief Scott Jordan. “The committee members will help us focus our resources, training, policies and procedures based on society’s expectations of us. By staying in touch with our community, we can affect quality of life changes at a grass roots level.”
