The City of Tustin recently mailed surveys to 1,500 randomly chosen citizens in order to gain public input relating to and including the City's characteristics, public safety, services, and quality life.

Residents who were not among the randomly selected households can also provide input using our online survey (residents who received a survey via mail should complete the mailed survey and send it in as opposed to completing it online).

Both the mailed survey and on-line survey results will assist the City in preparation of developing a new five-year Strategic Plan. Citizen input is vital to ensure long-term priorities with the City and residents are in alignment.

The anonymous survey is also available in Spanish and can be accessed and completed by clicking on the link: <http://bit.ly/surveytustin2018>

The survey is open until Tuesday, June 5, 2018.

The National Research Center will compile and evaluate results with a final report expected to be given to the City by the end of July.

For questions relating to the survey, please contact Stephanie Najera at snajera@tustinca.org
