

Lori Turner

Lori Turner grew up on her grandfather's farm in Petaluma, California. After working at the Boy Scouts Headquarters, she enlisted in the Marine Corps in 1944 at the age of 21. She served in various roles including public relations, meeting with dignitaries, and performing clerical duties. She was once on the cover of the Marines publication "Tell-N-It to the Marines." She reenlisted in 1949, and was promoted to Tech-Sergeant. After serving two more years in the Corps, she returned to Petaluma and got married. Her husband's job later brought her to Tustin, where she worked for Air-Cal Airlines and began volunteering at the Tustin Area Senior Center. Lori has been a volunteer for the Senior Center for more than 17 years and considers it her "home away from home."

